

TANGLEWOOD TALES

December 2018

The holiday season is nearly upon us and here's hoping for an ice-free December for all our neighbors so that plans for festivities do not have to be postponed.

Limited funds have been set aside to use judiciously for the plowing of our streets in the event of a major snowfall. We have secured a promise from the company we had on call last year but it is by no means perfect and they are based in Wilsonville and are expensive. If any of you know of companies that have a snow renewal service please contact Jim Maughn. Our streets are the responsibility of the TTA and not maintained by the city. We will only request plowing in the event that the roads become impassable.

Our yearly gutter cleaning is imminent, weather permitting, (dates and contact information in column on left). If, in addition, you would like to have your roof blown and treated for moss you can make your own arrangements with PDX Windows directly.

Our area recently suffered an unexpected power outage on a calm Friday evening for about 90 minutes. Here are two useful websites with which to familiarize yourself for such emergencies and keep flashlights and candles handy.

In six months, we will once again have Board openings and an opportunity for volunteers to step up to serve our association. This is a good reason for homeowners to get together to discuss issues likely to be important in the years to come such as rewriting our CC&R's and looking at maintenance problems such as tree roots affecting our pipes. We plan to convene such a meeting soon to find out what talents we have among our current neighbors and what specific projects would be of special interest to you.

Happy Holidays,

Your TTA Board of Directors
